May 7-9, 2015 | Depok, Indonesia

"We are looking forward to welcome the GNOME community to Indonesia, a country that has a large Free and Open source community, we are excited that they will gather for GNOME.Asia Summit 2015" said Estu Fardani, a member of the local organizing team.

The GNOME.Asia Summit 2015 will provide a unique opportunity for stakeholders to discuss Free and Open Source Software solutions, programming and promotion. Besides being a community event the Summit welcomes companies to connect and learn more about GNOME and FOSS.

Sponsors are:

- Featured conference materials and in announcements;
- There exists networking opportunities.

About 500 participants are expected to attend the Summit from Asia and other parts of the world. Sponsors have the chance to connect with the local market, discover new business opportunities, and increase awareness about their products.

Universitas Indonesia (UI) will host the venue for the event. UI is the largest university and one of the oldest universities in Indonesia. The University fully supports the local organizers in their efforts with organizing the 2015 GNOME Asia Summit.
